1899 Microscopic O Silver Dollar

Edward J. Black of Demarest, N. J. reported the above. As you can see the mint mark for New Orleans "o" is easily noticeable. Mr. Black has one of the most complete and best collection of N. J. colonial cents.

Another Discovery, 1956 Double D Cent

George Winfield Jr. of Haverhill, Mass. found this while checking for 1960 Double D cents. We have received reports of the following double mint marks: 1953-D, 1955-D, 1910-S cent unc. Quite an interesting set can be made at low cost or possibly found. Remember the 1942/41 and 1955 double shift both sold for as little as $8.00 each unc. only several years ago. Currently the 1960 Double D is established at $6. to $10. A check of your odd rolls may bring you some.

1960 Shifted Down D -- Clip Cent

Gentlemen:

In your July '61 (second edition), page 23, third column is a story on the 1960 double D cents in which the writer, Jack E. Sams requests readers who have found the "vertical double-D" to make known their finds.

The enclosed photo is of a vertical double-D with a clipped planchet . . . I also have six others in BU found in Uncirc. rolls. They appeared in the ratio of one to every two rolls.

Lincoln Cent Brockage

Dear Sirs:

Maybe I have a unique freak in this penny? I would like to know if anyone else has reported any like it.

As you can see, the reverse is smooth except for the reverse outline of Lincoln, liberty and the date. It must have gone through the mint twice.

—J. P. Rice, Auburn, New York

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Chas. Schaub, owner of The Garwood Coin Center, N. J., also showed an exact Lincoln 1955 borkage as above in AU condition.

NEVER GIVE UP

When things get tough; when the companies reject your business; when coin sales fall off and company balances are overdue; when your feet start to drag — just perk up and think of all the setbacks ABRAHAM LINCOLN had before he reached the pinnacle. Here are just a few:

Failed in business	1831
Defeated for legislature	1832
Failed in business again	1833
Elected to legislature	1834
Sweetheart died	1835
Nervous breakdown	1836
Defeated for Speaker	1838
Defeated for Elector	1840
Defeated for land office	1843
Defeated for congress	1843
Elected to congress	1846
Defeated for re-election	1848
Defeated for Senate	1855
Defeated for Vice Pres.	1856
Defeated for Senate	1858
Finally Elected President	1860
and then he got shot.

So keep on plugging — and maybe you, too, will finally get shot.

Yours in Coins,
Jack W. Nannery

19TH EDITION OF THE HANDBOOK OF U.S. COINS

—By R. S. YEOMAN

For 18 years now this book has held its position as the most popular coin premium price list in the whole world. This year the Blue Book, as it is known, will be released September 1. This edition is uniform with past issues. It contains 128 pages packed full of useful information and the latest premium prices of all U. S. coins. The books have a sewed binding and a hard cover with a special soil resistant finish. A high grade paper is used for finest printing and reproduction of the numerous halftone illustrations. The retail price of the book is $1.00.

In addition to the numerous price revisions, you will find new information and new illustrations scattered throughout the book. The controversial 1960 large and small date cents have been listed for the first time this year. Several pages of the book are devoted to explaining about the location of mint marks and other distinguishing marks that are important for beginners. Advanced collectors will find the book useful for learning the latest values of their coins and as a handy reference for the number of coins struck each year at all mints.

FROM YOUR EDITOR'S DESK...

NOTICE — Your Next Issue and all future issues will be mailed from Wisconsin. Chester Krause, publisher of the Numismatic News, has acquired the Coin Press and all rights. This purchase is separate and will not merge with the Numismatic News. Mr. Krause informs me the Coin Press will be published as is, same name and format. Any inquiries or correspondence should be addressed to Chester Krause, P.O. Box 274, Iola, Wisconsin.

The publisher regrets the situation but lack of support with ads from the Eastern dealers and many others throughout the country has forced this situation along with the high cost of expenses of operating. The publisher feels this could have been avoided had he received a minimum amount of support from the Eastern dealers. This leaves the East without a leading coin publication—something not to be proud of. I can not help but feel this loss will be felt in more ways than one to the collectors and dealers in the East, but as I have stated before, "Paid for advice is little heeded, given free none."

We have spent thousands upon thousands of dollars building up CPM and the hobby and introduced hundreds of thousands of persons to the art of coin collecting and numismatics, so in any event, we have contributed and supported the hobby. My cliche to this is, "Your helping others was helping yourself."

With this final editorial my advice to the collector is: If you don't know your coins—know your dealer. Should a new publication arise in the future in the East support it, for you will be protecting the hobby's future and insuring a sound value for your collection and stock.

I would like to thank the many who have supported us in many ways during the past six years and close with my sincere thanks and gratitude along with our staff for having been able and privileged to serve you and our hobby.

Paper Money Round-Up

"MICKEY MOUSE MONEY" OF W.W. II

By Harold Don Allen

Much of the world's paper money possesses an innate dignity which is striking to behold. You see it in the heavy lathwork, the classical vignette and the antiquated wording — proud traditions of a monetary past. You know it in the "look" of money, the "feel" of money, an indescribable "something" that serves to tell the genuine from the counterfeit note. Yet, I have before me, as I write this, two bills which would seem to contradict every phrase I have written. They are one pound notes of the Japanese Government, lithographed for circulation in captured Pacific islands with sterling currencies in World War II. One is counterfeit, and a crude job at that. The other I believe to be genuine. Even under the close examination of a hand microscope, it would be difficult to vouch — without close comparison — which is which. The paper is low-grade. The design lacks sharpness and intricacy, and the whole note gives evidence of being cheaply and hurriedly produced.

This is Japan's occupation currency of World War II as best known to paper money collectors, a series of lithographed notes in pesos, gulden, dollars, and rupees, tailored to fit the currency habits of Pacific territories occupied during the conflict, often backed by not so much as a promise to pay, and scorned by those upon whom they were forced. Yet, to the collector, these series can be interesting in their paradoxes: overly plentiful, and yet in a number of varieties very scarce; crudely produced and with no date, signatures or numbers, yet occasionally finely engraved and numbered in full; ignored and yet fascinating when given the attention they perhaps deserve.

The lithographed "occupation" issues, here under discussion, should not be confused with the home island Yen notes of the war years, which reflect a long, fine tradition of distinguished Japanese bank note art, nor with the overprinted and modified issues for Japanese troops. The occupation notes are perhaps best known in their fractional values, and especially in their Philippine ("peso") and Malayan ("dollar") releases. The Malayan denomination leads to the oft-quoted mis-statement that the series was dreamed up for U.S. invasion, a theory that the tropical "vignettes" promptly disprove. The Philippine values were a crude aftermath to the fine steel-engraved pesos of the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing, known in the islands for decades: "Mickey Mouse money" was one of the derisive phrases for the occupation notes.

The general "mass-produced" effect shows up strikingly in the reuse of denomination devices and vignettes. Thus, the ten dollar of Malaya and the ten gulden for the Indies are identical except for their inscriptions. The Burma series all employ the temple vignette on ½ rupee and higher notes. Similarities - and duplicates - prove even more evident on fractional releases.

Serial numbers — and steel engraving — are generally associated with the first occupation series for the Philippines, depicting on all denominations the Rizal monument. Yet the "dollars" of Malaya also from time to time are to be seen with black serial numbers following the ever-present code letters. The note illustrated is the blue-green $10, bears the elusive digits, and is steel engraved. The accepted point of view is that the quality, numbered notes were the first issue, soon worn out and replaced by the more crude bills. A complete set of the lithographed issue for Malaya, 1¢ to $1000, has sold for $1, and $2 seems the current asking price. Many, obviously, came into Allied hands as formerly occupied territories were retaken.

Higher denominations in several series, nonetheless, are distinctly scarce, and the rupees for Burma (some say India), the gulden for the Dutch possessions and the sterling units for the British islands (some even claim Australia!) are challenging to collect. Here is another numismatic area where you can browse, collect as you will, and study a chapter of recent history — while building a fascinating note accumulation at very little cost.

"Loose Coin Talk"

By NICHOLAS SALIMBENE

The idea of a general survey conducted through the "RED BOOK" and controlled by the ANA seems to have hit home with a great number of collectors. To those who have asked, "Why the Red Book?" (Please understand, I am only suggesting that the "RED BOOK" act as a carrier. The questions could and should, be formulated by the ANA. THE ANSWERS TO BE MAILED BACK TO THE ANA.) . . . Once again, "Why the Red Book?" My strong argument on this question lies in this simple fact—How many coin journals do you, dear reader, subscribe to? One? Two? Three? Four? On the other hand, how many Red Books do you buy? I "Count the 'Red Books'" sold from Whitman's last 14th issue and you would be close to active and interested coin collectors."

I received a letter from California and a letter from New York. These two writers may be miles apart in distance but are neighbors in theme. Both of them felt that the ANA was not doing enough for the average collectors. And they also, along with other writers, agreed that the ANA should conduct a survey for the good of the hobby. I think that the ANA "MISSSED THE BOAT", sort of speaking, when the "Numismatic News" came out with an insurance plan for its subscribers. This definitely should have been an ANA project for the availability to all its members . . . Don't you agree?

The "Coin World" with its article upon article, issue after issue of coin thievery and larceny makes me think of the the following when the "Numismatic News" came out with the group insurance . . . THE 'COIN WORLD' DID ALL THE SHOUTING, THE 'NUMISMATIC NEWS' TOOK ACTION . . .

If things don't pick up generally in the coin hobby this fall don't be surprised to see this notation at the heading of all Mail Bids: NO RIDICULOUS BIDS REJECTED . . . I'll be at the 4th Annual Newark Coin Convention, Saturday, September 9th at the Hotel Carlton, 22 East Park St., Newark, N. J. Stop by and say hello . . . let me hear of some ideas or thoughts that you may have . . . If you miss me at this convention, I'll be up at the 2nd Annual Bergen County Coin Show being held at the Bergen Mall Auditorium, at Paramus, New Jersey, September 30th . . . I might add that this is a tricky place to find, but stay with it and don't give up. Just keep asking, and asking, and asking . . .

To all Bloomfield and surrounding area coin collectors . . . a new coin store will be opening up on Bloomfield Ave. next to Vim's by the Railroad Station . . . more on this in next article . . . I believe the day of opening is set for September 1st . . .

The funny thought of the above is this: Every coin collector that I knew at one time or other, are all dealers now. AND AGE IS NO BARRIER . . . I don't know if this is good for the hobby or not . . . I keep thinking of the old saying, TOO MANY CHIEFS AND NOT ENOUGH INDIANS . . .

The answer to last issue's riddle is 26 days . . . The frog, at 25 feet (25 days) on his next jump (26th day) would put him out of the well . . . Ponder on this till next article: What international catastrophe would be caused by a waiter who dropped a platter on Thanksgiving? ? ? ?

I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Robert P. Alstrom, of 239 Walker St., Cliffside Park, N. J. who represents the GLIDELITE CO., for their product "GLIDELITE ILLUMINATED MAGNIFIER." I have never seen any other type of Magnifier perform like the one parallelogram action. This permits the reflector and lens to retain a preset position regardless of any movement of the arms. A double clamp at its base permits mounting to any horizontal surface. Both hands are free to inspect your coins at all times. It has a 5" double convex ground lens and around the lens is a G.E. 22 watt fluorescent circline lamp. This above combination gives the viewer a clear magnification and shadowless lighting. It delivers 260 ft candles at the 13 inch focal length of the lens and at 6 inch length delivers 1000 ft. candles of light over the work area. I suggest you write to Mr. Alstrom at his above address if interested. Better still, meet and speak to him at the Newark Coin Convention. I highly recommend it for people who go through rolls and rolls of coins. And to the dealers, it would be a device that would return every cent and would be a wonderful aid in their store . . . COIN TIP: IF YOU HAVE 1958-D LINCOLNS, HOLD THEM TILL A FUTURE STORY RELEASE IN CPM. IT WILL BE ANOTHER FIRST . . .

CANADIAN NICKEL TYPES

By STARR GILMORE

For want of anything better, I generally use the term "Maple Leafs" to describe the King George V nickels which began with 1922 and ended with 1936. Certainly enough, the Maple Leaf is more in evidence as a design than is true of any of the others. All Maple Leafs are unalloyed and are pure nickel.

Of this series, the 1925 is the most difficult, and obviously so, since only 200,000 were minted. Curiously enough, and until very recently, it could now and then be picked up in the coin rolls destined for return to Canada. However, this has become very much a thing of the past. They have been selling for around $5 in circulated condition.

All United States banks close to the border handle Canadian money in large amounts and collectors in such places have a chance to pick up items frequently not too easy to come by. Of course, this is quite out of the question if you live very far south of the border. A few collectors here and there have been able to pick up all of the Maple Leafs by recourse to the banks and a surprising total of the coins are still in circulation.

If a 1925 is wanted in brilliant uncirculated, then it is likely to be wanted for some time. Not too long ago, $45 was paid for one, but I doubt very much that such a thing could be done today because the coin is very difficult to obtain in the condition described.

In 1937 Canada adopted the now familiar beaver as the central feature for the reverse on her nickels and this design is likely to be with us for a long time to come. The beaver design is highly appropriate because these industrious creatures played a large and important part in the economy of early Canada. In fact, their skins were in use as a kind of currency and the profits of the Hudson Bay Company were largely derived from them.

Because of war necessity, and because of the great value of nickel as a war metal, the Tombacs came into existence, the first of them in 1942. Tombac, a term derived from the Malay "Tombage" goes back to a popular jewelry alloy used in the East Indies. Coins of this sort are a composition of 88% copper and 12% zinc, no use being made of tin. They should not be confused with the regular bronze coins although they certainly look like them.

Precedent for the new dodecagonal (twelve-sided) coin was furnished by the 3 pence piece of England. It was also chosen to overcome the prevalent objection raised by similarity of its predecessor to the 25 cent piece. Further, thought was taken for the possibility of its being redeemed and converted into regular bronze coin, a thing which did eventually happen.

Put out for only a year, the Beaver Tombac was succeeded by a second, the Victory nickel of 1943. This coin was the result of a Mint staff idea and the design was executed by Thomas Shingles, Mint Engraver, whose initials appear on it. The big V represents both victory and the value and the conjoined torch is the emblem of sacrifice. Its unique feature, as well as that of the two coming after it, lies in the words in Morse code inscribed around its edge: We Will Win When We Work Willingly. One cannot but wonder how people had awareness of this interesting alliterative statement.

In any event, the Tombac gave rise to difficulty. They oxidized rapidly and the tarnished coins were mistaken for the cent pieces. And besides this, it now appeared wise to make less use of copper. What then came about was the withdrawal, as far as possible, of all of them, and their conversion into bronze coins and medals. This is still going on, though now in very small degree, and the remaining ones have been partially hoarded against an expected price increase. In brilliant unc., the coins are beautiful as they closely resemble gold pieces.

With the Tombacs discarded, Canada resorted to a new sort of steel coin in chromium finish, the Victory types of 1944 & 1945. These nickels gave trouble because they rusted upon no very great provocation and they have also been withdrawn. And with 1946, Canada returned to a coin of pure nickel.

Canada put out a commemorative nickel in 1951, a most appropriate action, since 90% of the world supply of this metal is of Canadian origin, being mined in the Sudbury Range in Ontario. Approximately 10,000 sketches, models, and suggestions were made for the coin. The design submitted by Stephen Trenka was chosen and he received the $1,000 prize that was offered.

Money and American Nomenclature

By Arthur F. Giere

"A thing of universal interest soon acquires many names," thus spoke an ancient philosopher. Man who respects God has coined over 33,000 names for God and although the preachers tell us that the devil has many servants, it is quite evident that he has fewer names than the Lord Almighty.

Money, too, is a term which has been sprinkled with many names; it has pet names and it has nicknames. There have been various attitudes held with reference to money. To a clergyman, money means stewardship, while for businessmen it means thrift. To some, tithing is practiced for salvation; others say that economic salvation can be acquired only by saving. The world's greatest religious philosopher proclaims that the love of money is the root of evil; other philosophers say you cannot love an inanimate thing, you can only like it. There are some people who use money with the expectancy of getting a heavenly reward. Others use money to help poor people and only for the satisfaction of knowing that they have done good unto their neighbors. Money is liked by the taxi driver as well as by the tax collector, by the bishop as well as by the banker, and by the priest as well as by the poker player. The man who found a bag of money which had been lost by the Brinks trucks had a different attitude than the hungry executives of the million dollar electric appliance industries altho all of them were members of Christian congregations and some of them were also deacons or trustees. So you see money does influence people in one way or another.

Thousands of names have been given to money. However, here are a few that are used in the United States: Silver dollars are often known as "cartwheels"; other names for the silver dollar are "ball" and "bean" and "berry"; we often hear the term "buck" and "bullet" applied to a silver dollar; the trade dollar was issued in 1873 to rival a coin used in China.

In the exchange of money, we often run across the term, "greasing the palm," sometimes it is called "hand-oil"; in certain communities the giving of tips is called "sweetening."

Cash usually means money in any denomination while the term "specie" usually means gold or silver. Hard money, including metallic coins, is to be distinguished from paper money; in the West the term "alfalfa" means money.

Among the Western American Indians, "wampum," which is bead money, was a common term. In the South, the term "tobacco" meant three schillings. In early American history, we had a flying coin which was called "fugio cent." In the lake regions of the United States the word "copperheads" was often applied to Indian head cents. In the Southwest, a "bit" was the name of one-eighth of a dollar and thus we have "two bits," "four bits" and "six bits." Among the bankers, the symbol "X" denotes $10.00. If you speak of ready-money you may use the term "blunt." The term "scrip" means fractional paper currency. Folding money means paper documents passing as money often called greenbacks because they are printed with green ink. Any medium of exchange is called currency.

In some communities easy money is called a "bribe." A small cent is called a "copper." Among educators, we find that a money payment and a stipend are called "gratuities" and pay for services is called "douceur."

Among wage earners, we often run across the term "kale" which means money and "sugar" which means over-payment, and "bounty" means liberal payment, and "spoils" means big money, and "tip" which is a gift which is interpreted as "to insure promptness." If you are a good employee, you may run across the term known as "bonus" as well as the term "fee."

If you are a roughneck, the metallic money may be known as "loot," "booty" or a "panhandle." You might also be interested in "boodle."

Then we must not forget the term "clink" which means a penny and "doubloon" which is worth about $2.75 and the term "Jack" which means a small coin and the penny and the not-to-be-forgotten "pocket piece" which some use as a good luck token.

So here you have a few American names for the stuff for which some people will kill and for which others will work and devote their whole lives in order to have a coin collection and for which many philosophers will promise you the heavenly bliss of eternal life.

KENSINGTON RUNE STONE

By THE AMERICAN MEDALISTS

Tomes have been written about the Kensington Rune Stone and scientific societies have made it the subject of investigation and innumerable tracts, professors without number have puzzled their heads over it, but no one's opinion has ever been accepted as final.

The controversy originated in 1898 when a farmer living in the Alexandria, Minnesota, area was clearing a field of timber and turned up a stone on which was carved a queer inscription. The roots of a tree were firmly entwined around the stone, indicating that it had been buried for years. It was 36 inches long, 15 inches wide, 5½ inches thick and weighed 230 pounds. Discovery of the stone naturally developed general curiosity and it was deciphered by a professor in Scandinavian literature. It was his opinion that the writing was in runic characters, an alphabet used by Teutonic peoples from about the third century A.D. This is his translation:

Eight Goths (Swedes) and 22 Norwegians upon a journey of discovery from Vinland westward. We had a camp by two skerries, one day's journey from this stone. We were out fishing one day. When we returned home, we found 10 men red with blood and dead. A V M save us from Evil. Have 10 men by the sea to look after our vessel 14 days' journey from this island. Year 1362.

The translation apparently made the amazing revelation that the stone had been left by a part of an exploring expedition of intrepid Norsemen who came from the eastern coast of North America 130 years before Columbus made his eventful voyage. It also indicated that the camp was near two rocks (skerries), one day's journey from the stone, that the stone was being left on an island and that it was fourteen days' journey from the sea, although the translator said the figure might be forty-one.

Immediately the discovery of the rune stone started a heated dispute that has never been satisfactorily settled. Every few years some scientist, believing he has solved the mystery at last, issues a pamphlet supposed to set at rest all doubts, only to have his contentions assailed a short time later by another authority taking an opposite view.

A medal depicting the Norsemen inscribing the rune stone was struck in 1958 in limited quantities, in conjunction with the State of Minnesota and the town of Alexandria Centennials. This medal is available in two-toned golden bronze and in sterling silver from American Medalists, Dept. A, 3014 31st Ave. S., Minneapolis 6, Minn.

COULD GEORGE WASHINGTON THROW IT

By James A. Brown

Most everyone has heard how George Washington threw a silver dollar across the Potomac River, it must have been quite a throw. Or was it the Rappahannock River where Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the top baseball pitchers of the major leagues just barely duplicated the feat in our time. However the fact remains George Washington did live sixteen years at Mount Vernon after he married Dan Curtis's pretty widow before he went off to war for eight more. Mount Vernon does front on the Potomac River and our most famous George added the wing facing it after his return from the battles of the Revolution.

Taking it for granted that General Washington was a giant of a man, six feet four inches in height and also strong in proportion as all frontiersmen were who mapped the wilderness in the mid seventeen-hundreds. Let us take into consideration he was a young man at the time and Indian fighting was one of the hazards of the profession as dancing with the ladies was one of his accomplishments. With all this agility he must have been a good and active thrower. Evidently there must be quite a knack to throwing it and experience is pertinently a large factor in the facility of this sport. Just take the average big league pitcher, he has trained his throwing arm for pitching from early boyhood and has developed tremendous specialized arm muscles for throwing. A good baseball pitcher can probably throw a ball a hundred feet further than the average strong man. Yet it was quite a feat in modern times to cross the river at this late date for a highly trained athlete in top form at the peak of his fame. Possibly the river was widened in two hundred years and maybe the story in two centuries. But for certain there is a fortune for someone with the acumen to hunt for buried treasure which lies on the riverbank on the opposite shore where Washington threw his stuff.

If the Washington story turns out to be true historical fact, there lies buried somewhere near the surface of the ground some of the coins which with his prodigious strength he so forcibly expelled into space over the surface of the river into the virgin and fallow land beyond. Here too is a brand new field for the expert with the Geiger Counter, the electronic and scintillating devices to find and once more put into circulation rare and almost forgotten collectors items of the numismatic world. For as the United States was then yet unborn and Washington's private coinage did not appear until after the Revolutionary War, the coins in question must have been exceedingly rare. The Continental Silver Dollar is dated 1776 and lists at more than $3,- 000.00. in pewter it lists for about $65.00 and if it were the Spanish Dollar in general circulation at the time called, "Pieces of Eight", or the pillar dollar, these are mostly catalogued at fifteen dollars or more. In any case the historical significance of any kind of a find would greatly enhance the material value of the discovery.

What an opportunity for someone with time, imagination, a mechanical finding device and a flare for creating history. However if he is strong and aggressive and tries to duplicate the feats of the Father of our Country, he must be able to throw it. How To Amass A Fortune And Still Have A Good Time.

If you cannot absolutely refrain from drinking, start a saloon in your own home, be your own customer and you will not have to buy a license. Give your wife $12.00 to buy a gallon of whiskey. There are 128 snorts in a gallon. Buy all the drinks from her at 40 cents a shot, and in four days when the gallon is gone your wife will have 39 bucks to put in the bank. Yes, and she'll be able to spend another $12.00 for a gallon and start all over again.

If you live 10 years and continue to buy all your booze from your wife, and then die with the snakes in your boots, your wife will have $35,740.00 in the bank, enough to give you a respectable funeral, bring up your children, buy a house and lot, marry a decent man and forget she ever knew you.

IT'S HAPPENED $50
FOR 5¢ NEWSPAPER

I work in a stationery store, and during the course of a day I get to look at many coins. About three weeks ago a fellow gave me five pennies for a newspaper (he started to give me a nickel, but changed his mind). I figure that he paid me about $50.04 for that paper, because as I was glancing over the pennies, one of them turned out to be a '55 double shift. Although it is very dark, there are not any scratches on it and the lettering and date are very sharp. In talking with other collectors in the area, we have located eight other double shifts, all collected locally. You might like to include these nine in your Rare Coin Survey.

Another coin which I have seen recently, is an 1817 large penny with a small bar connecting the top of the last "1" and "7" together, passing through the "7" and tapering off to the first star on the right. I have been unable to locate this variety in the Red Book, and am wondering if it could possibly be called a rare coin, or merely another of the many varieties of the large cent.

RJR IS STILL DELIVERING!

During the past weeks, we have contended that "S" coins were on the way up in price and demand because of the SAN FRANCISCO mint closure and low issues from that Mint. There still is no doubt in our minds that profits are and will continue to be reaped by purchasing our circulated "S" rolls. Nearly one half of our customers are dealers who are stocking up and selling the coins as singles many times above what they are paying for them.

Though "S" coins are on the way upward in price, RJR still offers unsorted "S" rolls at the following wholesale prices. Only by selling in large volume are we able to hold our prices down. THE SLEEPING GIANT

Near Mexico City there are two large volcanoes with large unpronounceable names. "Popocatepetl" POPO and "Ixtacihuatl" named SLEEPING LADY. In my estimation we have a "Sleeping

MEXICO

Tim Shroyer intends to get down to brass tacks and grass roots when he becomes next American Numismatic Association president . . . Shroyer's personal numismatic specialty? A collector since 18, he's schooled in many areas, and a graduate student of U. S. and Canadian coins. Right now he's excited about his Mexican collection.

What took top honors at the last L. A. show? . . . MEXICO! Perhaps this is a definite trend. For the past two years there seems to be a shift of interest to our neighbor's coins South of the border. Certainly Mexico offers a fascinating field of numismatics. Coins have been minted there for 425 years

—yes, since 1536 or just 44 years after Columbus. No less than FOURTEEN different mints. Two revolutions which resulted in many provisional coins, etc.

In order to acquaint you with what there is to collect I suggest you mail me 1.00 (bill, stamps, check, etc.) I will send by return mail my 1961 "COINS OF MEXICO". 45 pages—many illustrations—interesting views and comments, amounts coined, retail prices, etc. You cannot lose. REAL MONEY

By KALVART K. TIDWELL, A.N.A. 16320

Spanish, silver coins of the "Real variety," the one-half, the one, two, four, and eight real denominational pieces of the 1500, 1600, 1700, and 1800's contain a great deal of fascination due to their romantic background, and were the most widely circulated coins of the times.

Mexico City produced these coins, the first in the new world. They were scattered hereabout, in great quantity, long before our United States coins appeared, and the colonization of the land had gone far.

Mexico's "real money" played an important role in the development of the coinage of other countries. When the United States devised its coinage system, its dollar was modelled on the Spanish unit of eight bits, or the eight real piece of silver. Thomas Jefferson, as an advocate of our dollar, in an undated note addressed to Congress about 1783, stated: "The parts and division should be so nearly of the value of some of the known coins as that they may be of easy adoption by the people. The Spanish milled dollar and its fractions fulfill all these conditions because it is a known coin, the most familiar of all in the minds of the people. It is already adopted from the south to the north, has identified our currency (meaning continental) and therefore offers itself as a unit." Interestingly enough, these Mexican coins under Spanish rule remained legal tender in the United States until 1857 — a tribute to the honest silver content of these attractive pieces.

Our collection of this "Real money", besides many single rare specimens, consists of a series of five of the above mentioned denominational coins, in the respective ruling periods of each of the Spanish kings, namely: Philip II (1555-98), Philip V (1725-46), Ferdinand VI (1746-59), Charles III (1759-88), Charles IV (1788-1808), Ferdinand VII (1808-25); Mexican Empire, Augustin I (1822-23), and the Mexican Republic issue (1823-97). Forty pieces assembled and labelled in order from the mid-1500's on, and all bearing the official mint-mark of Mexico City—O.M. Gradually the term "real" was abandoned. As early as 1841 the centavos began to appear to designate the fractional parts, and from 1898 on, the Mexican monetary unit became the peso.

The Mexico City Mint commenced coinage in 1536, under the rule of Charles and Johana (1536-55). Although an eight real was provided for in their law that ordered the striking of the other four denominational pieces, and recinding the striking of "three real" coins, yet up to the present time no authenticated specimen of this eight-real is known to numismatists. We selected the pieces of Philip II as being typical of the "Cob," (cabo de barra) issue because this is the first and only reigning period in which all five denominations appeared. Philip III, IV, and V issued some cob money, but not the whole series. Later, Philip V did issue the series as round type coins, these being shown. Round coins followed thereafter.

Displayed in a rich mahogany frame, having double side glass to show both the obverse and reverse of coins, truly this collection is an interesting lot. Replete with historical lore, it was twenty years in the forming.

CONFEDERACY MADE TOTAL OF 16 COINS EVENING GAZETTE By ED VASKAS

Although the Confederate States of America had mountains of paper money printed, they struck only 16 coins—four half-dollar pieces and 12 one-cent pieces. The coins were never issued in quantity because of the Confederacy's shortage of metal.

The half dollars were struck in 1861 only in proof at the New Orleans Mint after it was taken from the Union. They were made from the regular half-dollar obverse die of that year, and a Confederate reverse die.

The back of the coin has a shield with seven stars, representing the states which had seceded up to that time. Above is a Liberty cap, and the shield and cap are entwined with wreaths of sugar cane and cotton.

In 1879 there were 500 re-strikes made before the dies were deliberately mutilated.

THE CONFEDERATE CENT die was cut by a Philadelphia Yankee in 1861. He struck a dozen pieces in copper-nickel, the same alloy as the U.S. cents that year. But fearful that the federal government might consider him a traitor, he buried the coins and dies, and they never even reached the South.

After the Civil War, in 1874, the pieces were dug up and the dies were again used, this time to make seven restrikes in gold, 12 in silver, and 55 in copper, before they broke.

The front of this coin carries the head of Liberty, and the back has a wreath of ears of corn and wheat, with a cotton bale at the bottom. The originals and the restrikes go for several hundred dollars each when they are up for sale.

The southern mints, captured by the Confederacy, were closed as of June 1861, and much of the machinery and supplies went to wartime factories.

Matt H. Rothert Displays "In God We Trust"

The suggestion to include In God We Trust on our currency was presented to the Secretary of the Treasury, George W. Humphrey, in November 1953 by Matthew H. Rothert of Camden, Arkansas. Mr. Rothert's idea came to him a few months earlier while attending church one Sunday morning in Chicago. As the collection plate was being passed, it occurred to him that only the coins in the plate had this motto. He then thought that since our paper money has a much wider circulation abroad than our coins, a message about this country's faith in God could be easily carried throughout the world if it were on United States currency.

Secretary Humphrey favored the idea but felt that Congressional sanction was desirable. In March 1955, through Mr. Rothert's efforts, bills to this effect were introduced into the Senate by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas and into the House of Representatives by Congressmen Bennett of Florida and Harris of Arkansas. The bill which was approved by President Eisenhower on July 11, 1955 specified "... that at such time as new dies for the printing of currency are adopted ... by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the dies shall bear ... the inscription In God We Trust, and thereafter this inscription shall appear on all United States currency and coins." The new dies and machinery for the printing of paper money were not adopted by the Bureau until 1957. While the one dollar certificates are the first notes officially to bear this inscription, it will appear eventually on all our currency.

NEW TERRITORIAL COINAGE FOR THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

—By Neil Shafer

This book is the newest addition to the Whitman Coin Reference Series. It is uniform in size and appearance with each of the previous volumes in this popular set. The book has sixty-four pages with a flexible gold stamped cover; 7 3/4" by 5 1/4", and will sell for $1.00.

Interest in Philippine coins has now risen to a point where this is one of the most popular new trends in coin collecting. The appearance of this book fits in nicely with the Reference Series, which already covers the coins and tokens of Alaska and Hawaii.

Mr. Shafer very ably covers the complete numismatic history of the Philippine Islands from the time of Spanish colonization to the present date. A complete listing of coins with prices is given for all pieces struck while the Philippines were a United States possession from 1898 through 1945. Detailed information is given about minute varieties, a method for grading these coins, and special sections deal with medals issued during the Japanese occupation and all issues of Culion, the leper colony.

Dear Sir:

In the July issue you published information on the mint error nickel bar over the "O" in the date and said this is a break in the die.

I have a number of these coins, also a number with the bar over letters in liberty and the date. I have one with digit "1 and 9" joined together and bar over letters in liberty and digits "O" in date. I would like you to pass this information on to the readers.

Dear Frank:

Enclosed is $3.00 for my renewal of the Coin Press. My subscription doesn't run out until December 1961.

I have read a few of the coin papers and books that are out on the market, but the COIN PRESS is top priority with me.

I met your brother John here at the Base last year and he is tops, helping out in ways of coins. We get together about every day. He showed me the first issues of the Coin Press, and it came a long way since then.

There are a lot of key Lincolns out in circulation. Two weeks ago I found the 1914-D Lincoln here on the base.

I wish all the readers of your Coin Press A GOOD HUNTING ON COINS.

HOW THE RARE SIX PENCE WAS FOUND

Mr. L. S. Dee of London arrived at the Philadelphia airport with his world-famous collection of rare British coins. The collection is to be shown at various centers throughout the United States during the remainder of this year. Among the rare items in this collection is "Simple Simon's penny", Jack's Crown, the Ten O'Clock scholar's dollar, and six big silver pennies. "The six pennies mentioned in Sing a Song of Six-pence", announced Mr. Dee proudly. "I spent years of my life looking for a six-pence which didn't exist. Perhaps you'd like to hear the story", he said.

THE NUMISMATIST'S TALE.

About three years ago my wife and I were taking a holiday in the Cotswolds, and one night we put up at an inn called The Bird in Pie. On examining the inn sign I could make out a pie-dish with crust cut and a number of black birds pushing their heads up out of the pie. On our pre-breakfast stroll we came to a hollow and were walking along a field-path beside some standing rye, when my wife suddenly exclaimed, "It's a pocket full of rye". At that moment everything came together in my head — the blackbird pie, the royal visitor, the pocket full of rye. Our inn, I realized in a flash, must be the very place referred to in SING A SONG OF SIXPENCE. Over breakfast we tackled our host. He at once admitted the identification and said he had supposed everyone knew about it. KING HENRY VIII had been caught in a storm and had taken refuge at the inn. The inn-keeper had served the king a huge blackbird pie, which had steamed and sizzled when it was cut open. The King had then stayed the night. The King complained that the door of his room had rattled all night and he good-humoredly gave the inn-keeper a sixpence to have it mended. "But", I said, "the door still rattles". Our host walked over to the corner of the parlor and came back with a small circular object about one inch high and flat at both ends. I saw that it was made of silver disks. Seizing a knife, I pried the disks apart and the six pennies you now see in the case lay on the table before me. I then guessed what happened. The original innkeeper wished to preserve the royal coins as a memento, but he also wished to obey the King's command to stop the door from rattling. So he fixed the pennies together to be used as a wedge to hold the door firm. He told no one as he did not want the pennies stolen, and so the secret died with him. That was how things remained down through the years until a casual visitor to the inn, a coin collector, stumbled on the secret.

Five coin clubs were represented by their presidents at the first Louisiana Numismatic Association meeting held Saturday and Sunday, July 15 & 16, at Hotel Bentley. They are, from left, Wayne Davis, Shreveport Coin Club. Bill Dolch, Southwest Louisiana Coin Club of Lake Charles. Arthur Samson of the Crescent City Coin Club, New Orleans. William B. Kearns, Cenla Coin Club and Louisiana Numismatic Assn. president. And, A. I. Martin of Houston Coin Club and Texas Numismatic Association.

WHEN AND WHERE WAS YOUR CONVENTION OR SHOW? July 15 & 16 (Sat. & Sun.); The Louisiana Room & Bentley Room, The Bentley Hotel, Alexandria, Louisiana.

WHO SPONSORED IT? Louisiana Numismatic Association convention was sponsored by the Cenla Coin Club of Alexandria, Louisiana.

WHO WERE THE CONVENTION OFFICIALS? William B. Kearns, General Chairman; S. M. Fatheree, Chairman; James Justiss, Exhibits; W. W. Rollo, Auction Committee; Mrs. Doris Kearns, Reservations; Mrs. Beverly R. Bullock, Registrations; (all of Alexandria, La.); T. P. Hatfield, Bourse (Homer, La.).

WILL YOU DESCRIBE EXHIBITS? Parish Paper money, 1942 over 41 Dime, Different types of U. S. paper money, 1895 Proof silver dollar, Complete set of gem Unc. commemorative half dollars, and other coins too numerous to mention.

WILL YOU LIST THE NUMBER OF DEALERS' BOURSE? Twenty-eight (28).

WILL YOU GIVE US AUCTION HIGHLIGHTS? 1909 s vdb, unc.; 1918/17 Standing Lib. quarter, AU; 1932 d quarter, Unc.; complete Barber Dimes, good to Unc. (minus 1894 s); numerous pieces of 1, 2½, 3, 5 and 10 dollar gold pieces. The auction went on for two and one half hours and as we changed auctioneers we gave out door prizes.

WAS THERE A BUSINESS SESSION? ELECTION OF OFFICERS? There was a business meeting before the auction and the Board of Directors met before the business meeting. At the Board of Directors meeting it was decided to hold two meetings and auctions annually. The next meeting and auction will be held in Shreveport, La. in April. The other meeting will be held in the fall. No election of officers — not until our April meeting.

WILL YOU GIVE US ATTENDANCE FIGURES? Around 700. There were some 200 dealers and coin collectors from seven states. Dealers from Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Florida, North Carolina, Mississippi and California had displays.

WHAT MADE YOUR CONVENTION DIFFERENT FROM ANY OTHER? It was the first ever held by the newly formed Louisiana Numismatic Association. The dealers were very well pleased and indicated that they would like to be notified for our next one to be held because they did better at this one than they had for the last eight months. Cooperation and planning was evident all through the convention.

DO YOU HAVE ANY GLOSSY BLACK AND WHITE PHOTOGRAPHS AVAILABLE? Yes. We're sending you two — information relative to each to be found on reverse side of picture.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Our L. N. A. club was organized March 26, 1961 with fifty-two (52) members. At the present time the club has one hundred seventy-five (175) members.

A NEW OFFICIAL MEDAL

WE PRESENT

THE 50th YEAR OF NAVAL AVIATION, 1911-1961

We have been designated as sole, national distributors of the official medal to commemorate the 50th year of Naval Aviation. The designs were approved by the Fiftieth Anniversary Project Staff of the Chief of Naval Operations.

This medal is the same 2½" size as the previous, official medals distributed by our firm. It was struck by the Medallic Art Company from models of the well known sculptor, Paul Fjelde. Both the bronze and silver medals are boxed, with a printed, informative circular.

The silver medals are struck in pure silver having a fineness greater than .999. The issue of silver medals is limited to 5000 serially numbered pieces.

The official prices of the Naval Aviation medal are:

The Bronze Medal $4.00

The Pure Silver Medal $30.00

A COMPANION MEDAL

The U.S.S. Enterprise Medal that was struck last year makes a fitting companion piece to the Naval Aviation Medal — in size; in quality; in subject matter.

The U.S.S. Enterprise which was launched in 1960, is the greatest of all Navy vessels to employ Naval Aviation. It is not only a nuclear powered aircraft carrier, and the first of its kind; it is also the largest ship of any type in the world.

This official medal, which commemorates the launching, is offered at the original issue price, as follows:

The Bronze Enterprise Medal $4.00

The Pure Silver Enterprise Medal $30.00

The issue of silver medals was limited to 5000 serially numbered pieces, and they are offered subject to being sold out.

ATTENTION COIN DEALERS: Established dealers are invited to send for our wholesale prices, using their business stationery and furnishing suitable credit references as to their commercial status.

ATTENTION COIN COLLECTORS: The above medals, as well as earlier issues, together with our publications, accessories and the Library of Coins, may be had at your local coin or stamp dealer, book or hobby shop or the Coin Departments of leading department stores.
